There is a SAUK saying that goes like this: "Teachers not only teach, but they also learn." This is the mission and essence of SACC. We teach Anthropology to our students, we teach ourselves and more importantly, we learn from each other. This is our secret. Let's work as a team to get the word out to our fellow teachers and professionals. Let us show them what true egalitarian Anthropologists are really like. Let's demonstrate how we share our knowledge with each other and how we distribute our ideas freely amongst ourselves. One of my goals is to be recognized by the AAA as the Subject Matter Experts (SME) when it comes to the teaching of Anthropology. The members of SACC are the practitioners of college level Anthropological education. Let us share our stories, our ideas and let us show the Anthropological Community how to have fun while we learn.
